moving forward

There's no secret formula for outstanding performance, either in sports, or in providing legal services – it's all a matter of determination, commitment and focus. This is what we bring to our daily work, because we know that our clients will accept nothing less. And neither will we.

pushing ahead

Our goal is to create tailor-made strategies and optimal solutions for each of our clients. But every strategy is only as good as its implementation:

For us, speed and efficiency are top priorities. Whether you want us to match your pace or take the lead, we have what it takes to go the distance.

on the ball

Innovation is the driving force behind every successful business. Our experienced legal specialists combine exceptional ability with profound expertise to master the new challenges fwp is faced with every day. But that's not all: intensive, long-term study of legal and economic issues keeps us on the ball. That means we make sure our knowledge is always up-to-date, so that we can swiftly and keenly analyse a broad range of complex situations and pinpoint opportunities and risks.

pulling together

fwf's organizational structures are flexible, enabling us to put together ideal teams of experts to deal with each new challenge as it arises. In this way, we concentrate our resources as effectively as possible. As any winning sculling team will tell you, coordination is the key.

We make the best possible use of the abilities and expertise of each individual team member in order to create synergies that will help achieve our – and your – objectives. To this end we also cooperate with law offices in other countries whenever necessary.

staying focused

staying focused

As business lawyers, we know the importance of networking with other experts. At fwp, we cultivate and maintain close contacts with university legal departments as well as with experts in related fields, such as financial auditors and tax consultants.

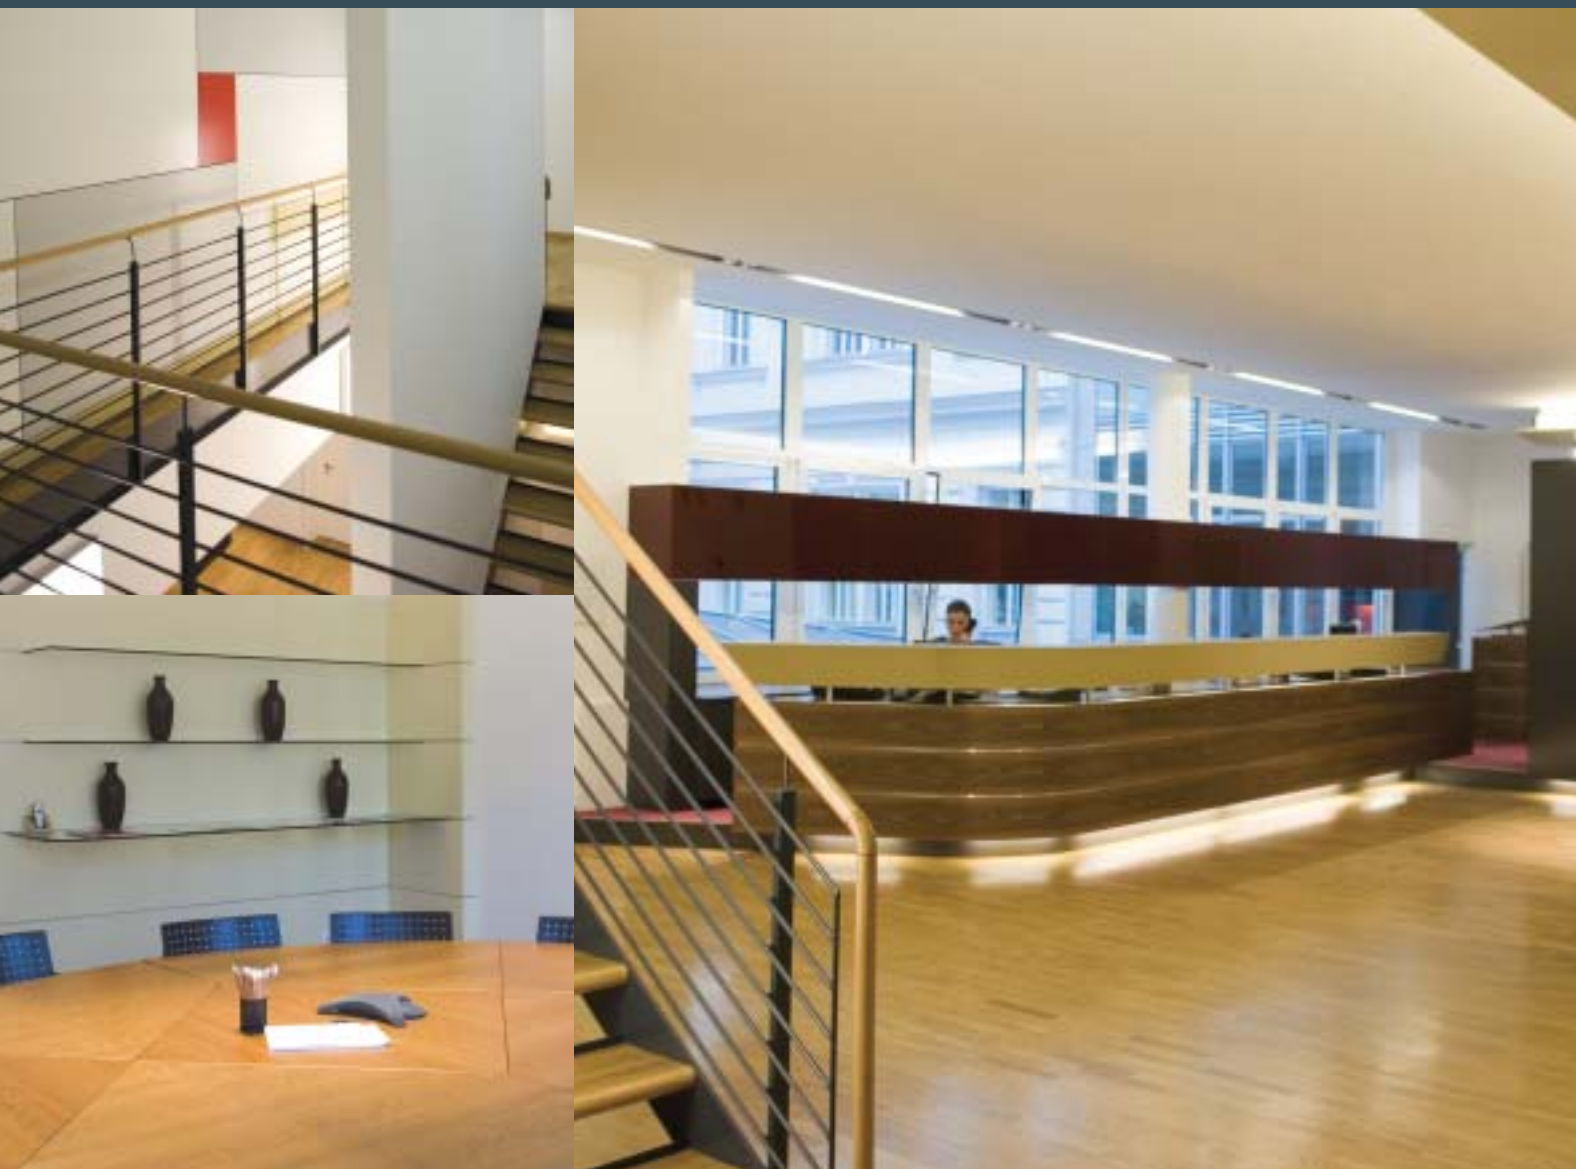

When developing strategies for our foreign clients, our extensive international network of qualified specialists enables us to focus on the specific legal situation of each country involved.

inspiring confidence

We care about our clients, and it is important to us to inspire their confidence. This can only be done by keeping the lines of communication open and working together as partners. Our clients always know who their contact person is. They also know that they can depend on us for the best and most efficient implementation of the strategies we develop together.
